

REPUBLICAN WOMEN PLAN OPEN SESSION

Auditor General Martin and Mrs. Hanah Durham Will Be Speakers.

SET DATE—JANUARY 22

The newly organized Lower Merion-Narberth Chapter of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women will hold its first open session in the township building, Ardmore, Tuesday evening, January 22, at 8.15. Plans were made at a meeting of the executive board held Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Haverford, who is president.

Speakers at the meeting will be State Auditor General Edward Martin and Mrs. Hanah M. Durham, chairman of campaign activities of the State Republican Women's Council. Mrs. Leroy C. Douglass, Narberth, who is first vice president of the township-borough chapter, will preside.

Republican voters—men and women—will be welcomed at the meeting. Mrs. H. T. Leedom, Bryn Mawr, corresponding secretary, announced yesterday that membership blanks will be available for any Republican women voters who may wish to join the council.

Other officers of the chapter who were elected December 10, include Mrs. Thomas W. Hammond, Bryn Mawr, second vice president and former president of the Bryn Mawr Council of Republican Women, oldest of its kind in this part of the State; Mrs. Morris M. Green, Ardmore, third vice president; Mrs. Theodore E. Benade, Cynwyd, fourth vice president; Mrs. E. C. Griswold, recording secretary, and Miss Margaret Bruster, Bryn Mawr, treasurer.

Refrigeration Is Topic at Rotary Club Meeting

A lecture on applied physics featured the monthly supper meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Monday night. E. H. Lukens, refrigeration engineer for the Welsbach Company, was the speaker.

Mr. Lukens discussed at length the scientific principles behind all electric refrigeration and showed how variations of these principles are applied to the various makes of household machines on the market.

As one of his methods of demonstration he used a small cylinder of compressed refrigerating fluid. This he sprayed into a glass of water, forming ice immediately. To show the harmless character of the fluid, small atomizers were passed around for the members to spray on their hands.

Two of the working parts of the household machine were also used for the lecture, and the entire process of cooling and the storage of the cold in the brine was carefully explained. Refrigeration by gas was also touched upon.

Mr. Lukens also went into considerable detail to show the methods of constructing ice boxes to hold the modern cooling machinery, after telling his hearers of some of the difficulties faced by the experimenters in arriving at suitable insulating elements.

William H. Gillis was chairman of the meeting, one of the few held by the club at which only local members were present.

December Was Unexciting

December was a mild month with no extremes of temperature of an unusual character and with a light precipitation. The greatest wind velocity during the month was 32 miles on December 18. The prevailing direction of the wind was northwest. The average or mean temperature was 36.3 degrees. A high temperature of 59 was reported, with a low of 14.

The total precipitation was 1.94 and the snowfall, unmelted, was 4.9 inches, according to Charles Decker, co-operative observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau at Narberth. During the month there were 16 days described as clear, with 10 cloudy and one with dense fog.

Heads Board

The Rev. Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the Baptist Church of the Evangel, who was elected president of the Board of Trustees of the Narberth Community Library at the Trustees meeting Tuesday night. Mr. Keighton succeeds Miss Anna MacKeag who resigned on account of her health.

TO AMEND THE BY-LAWS

The Rev. Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the Baptist Church, was chosen president of the Board of Trustees of the Narberth Community Library at a meeting of the trustees on Tuesday night.

Miss Anna MacKeag, who has served as president of the board for four years was obliged to resign on account of her health. She still retains her membership on the board. Mr. Keighton formerly served as vice president of the Board of Trustees.

At a recent meeting of the school board Mrs. Alice Monks was appointed to represent that body on the library trustees. This appointment is gratifying to the library since Mrs. Monks' interest in the work is well known.

A special meeting of the Library Association will be held on Tuesday, February 12, to amend the by-laws in order to provide for the work of the secretary being assumed by the librarian. This is in accord with the usual custom of progressive libraries. The article to be amended is Article 4, Section 2, which now reads, "The officers shall be elected by the Board of Trustees from its membership." By adding "with the exception of the secretary" after the words "the officers," the amendment will read, "The officers, with the exception of the secretary, shall be elected by the Board of Trustees from the membership."

An appropriation of $300 from the school board was gratefully acknowledged at the meeting. The school board regretted that the usual amount of $500 could not be given since the State appropriation to the school board had been cut out this year and the cut in the school tax rate also decreased the available revenue.

The librarian reported that the circulation for the calendar year just past fell short of 32,000 by a handful.

Praises Narberth Pupils

Narberth pupils attending the Lower Merion Junior and Senior High Schools received warm commendation from Superintendent S. Edgar Downs, of the senior high school at the December meeting of the Narberth School Board. Superintendent Downs report showed that very satisfactory work was being done by the Narberth pupils.

Mrs. Harvey W. Monks was appointed to represent the school board on the Board of Trustees of the Narberth Community Library, the appointment to take effect immediately.

Principal George H. Wilson reported that the attendance at the local schools had increased greatly during the past week. Comparatively few absences now point to the recovery of the majority of children who were ill.

Made Trustee

Mrs. Harvey W. Monks, school board member, who was appointed to represent the school board on the Board of Trustees of the Narberth Community Library. The appointment was made at the December meeting of the School Board and takes effect immediately.

NORRISTOWN FIVE BEATS L. MERION

Absence of Two Star Players
Contributes to 30-23
Defeat.

PLAY ABINGTON TODAY

Coach Anderson's patched-up Lower Merion High basketball team invaded Norristown last Friday evening and lost a Suburban League game, 30 to 23.

Anderson is one of the last to alibi for his team, but those in close contact with athletics at the senior high school are confident that Lower Merion would have easily led the way during the entire game at Norristown had the varsity lineup been intact. The loss of two stars, Warren Lockwood and Albert Mandes, was like pulling the teeth from the offensive and defensive strength of the team. These two boys were both home in bed ill with colds, while their teammates were valiantly trying to overcome the lead that Norristown gradually increased throughout this highly exciting game.

Henry Gane and Albert Thomas filled in creditably for the absent stars, but they could not equal their effectiveness.

The defeat also was partly due to the superior passing attack of the Norristown squad. Lower Merion must speed up the offense and use a passing attack instead of individual dribbling by the guards to bring the ball up the floor. This slow dribble allows the defense to get set and the other members of the team can be easily covered.

The next meeting of the Mothers' Council will be held on Monday evening, January 21, at the Narberth School. All parents and teachers are cordially invited.

Bell Telephone Company to Spend Over $35,500,000 in State-Wide Improvements

More than $35,500,000 is to be spent by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania next year for gross additions to the telephone plant throughout the State, according to George K. Erb, manager for the company here. This vast expenditure will be spread over the company's State-wide territory.

Although a large portion of the Bell company appropriations will be devoted to extension of central office facilities, more than one-third of the total will be spent on "outside plant." This constitutes the equipment and apparatus outside of the central offices, including such items as poles, crossarms and over-

UNIVERSAL CHURCH IS HART'S DREAM

U. of P. Chaplain Talks on Religions Before Woman's Community Club.

WOULD BREAK BARRIER

What is Religion? This was the first question Dr. John R. Hart, Chaplain of the University of Pennsylvania attempted to answer in his most educational and instructive talk on Religions and religious education before the Women's Community Club on Tuesday, January 8.

One writer alone has forty-seven definitions of religion; some one says it is a sentiment but adds it is a combination of instincts deeply embedded in the human race. Dr. Hart defined it as the science of relationship between the human and divine. Speaking of the teachings of Confucius and the system of life and ethics taught in China he once asked a Chinese student, "Do you think there is anything of religious value in the world today that is not contained in the Christian religion?" and the student who had studied all religions said, "No, but many of its values have either been obscured or omitted."

Dr. Hart in his enthusiasm for the Church Universal spoke of the values of all religious thought but affirmed that the Christian Religion has the summary of the law. His hope is a fusion of all the great religions and an amalgamation of the different divisions in the Christian Church. An appreciation for the historic aspects and values of the Church were recommended although one should value the fruits more than the roots, the beginnings are always from the roots upward.

The Universal Church of his dream will break down all barriers of bigotry. Though all one in aim it will be diversified. It must have organization, for organization outlives the individual. "Think less of words, for the truth about God is more important and so become a part of the great evolving spirit."

Wynnewood Wins Honor; Foster Made Executive

Six Boy Scout troops will be represented in 42 merit badge awards to be given 30 Main Line Scouts by the Main Line Court of Honor at its January meeting, held tonight at All Saints' Church, headquarters of the Wynnewood Troop. Wynnewood won the honor of entertaining the court when 18 boys made application for merit badges—more than any other troop on the Main Line.

Other troops who will be represented at the award meeting are Bala-Cynwyd Troops, No. 1, 2 and 3, Ardmore Troop, No. 1 and the Merion and Wynnewood outfits.

Announcement of the candidacies for awards was made by Jack Foster, assistant scoutmaster of the Wynnewood Troop, who is the Main Line field executive. His appointment by the Delaware-Montgomery Executive Council was made effective this month, following the recent resignation of Francis Carroll Barton, Jr., assistant scoutmaster of Troop 2, Cynwyd. Mr. Barton's resignation came as the result of the press of business duties and of increased responsibility in his own troop.

Later the Wentz interests consolidated their seven anthracite collieries and similar action was taken in connection with their vast bituminous operations in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky. Simultaneously all of the sales companies were amalgamated into the General Coal Company, of which Mr. Darville was elected general manager of sales.

FIRES CAUSE LOSS IN CYNWYD, MERION

Fireman Overcome and Chief's Son Burned in Two Blazes.

GASOLINE EXPLODES

Damages estimated at thousands of dollars resulted from two fires that were extinguished by the Union Fire Association the past week. An additional blaze, in a chimney, drew the Bala-Cynwyd-Merion Company to William C. Scheetz' home, 433 Bryn Mawr avenue, Cynwyd, last Friday morning, but caused no damage.

Last Thursday afternoon a cellar fire burned its slow way through joists beneath a first-floor room of the James R. Wotherpoon home, 338 Meadow lane, Merion, and gutted that room, including a Christmas tree and gifts.

An excited neighbor telephoned an alarm to Philadelphia headquarters, which referred her to the Bala-Cynwyd Company. Assistant Fire Chief Peter C. Hess led the Union Association's attack on the flames, after he had been taken from the township's treasurer's office in Ardmore to the scene of the blaze by Police Lieutenant "Patsy" Mullin.

Flames had already wrought considerable damage before the firemen arrived on the scene at 4.34 P. M. Two Irish terriers, highly valued by the family, were found unconscious in the kitchen and were immediately carried outside, where it was found that they were dead. No members of the family or servants were in the house.

Ernest Zingerl, Bala-Cynwyd fireman, was overcome by the dense smoke which pervaded the entire house. West Manayunk firemen aided the Union Company in extinguishing the flames, and the Narberth Company stood by, although not asked to aid. The firemen withdrew at 6.05 P. M., leaving Lower Merion police on watch overnight.

Gasoline Explodes

An explosion of gasoline which had leaked into a pit and two manholes at the Sun Oil filling station at Old Lancaster road and Montgomery pike, Cynwyd, late Tuesday afternoon, seriously burned Benjamin Bridgeman, 16, of 506 Bryn Mawr avenue, Cynwyd, and set fire to the station.

Bridgeman had stopped to have gasoline put into the tank of the car in which he was driving with two other youths: Charles Miller, Jr., of Academy road, Merion, and William Horning, 525 Bryn Mawr avenue, Cynwyd, son of the Bala-Cynwyd fire chief.

Local Bank Holds Annual Meeting

The Narberth National Bank held its annual meeting of stockholders Tuesday afternoon for the election of directors and the presentation of its annual report.

A note of optimism was sounded by president Carl B. Metzger in discussing the progress of the local institution, which opened its doors in May, 1925. A steady increase in deposits and total resources has been noted.

Economies in operation, Mr. Metzger said, have made it possible to pay off rapidly the expenses of organizing, giving hopes that the bank will be paying its stockholders before the five-year period usually considered necessary to put a bank on a profitable basis.

The stockholders endorsed the movement among banks all over the country to educate depositors to the advantage of maintaining adequate balances in checking accounts. Accounts averaging less than $100 in daily balance, bankers have found, are carried at an actual loss to the institution.

The following were elected directors for the coming year:

LETTERS TO EDITOR

To the editor of Our Town:

When the 12 regulars of the Narberth Ball Club, comprising what is better known as "The Bing of Clubs," tallied their eleventh gonfalon in 1928, Mr. A. C. Spaulding, prominent Philadelphia sportsman and manufacturer, donated, on October 30, in behalf of their valiant, if not phenomenal pell-mell finish for the pennant, 12 gold miniature baseballs, to be distributed among these boys who made victory possible; romping away with the championship of the Main Line League.

It is interesting to know that these players (as has been the custom for the past 18 years) have never received any pecuniary remuneration for performances on the diamond. They were all lads who put their utmost effort, undivided time and attention that they might continue on their incessant progress towards championships of the Main Line League.

Unfortunately, the presentation of these emblems of merit, their sole reward for their faithful services on the field, is now past due, in spite of the fact that the team's pilot had the honor of receiving Mr. Spaulding's kind gift to champions.

Three members of the club were secretly presented with these miniature balls and three men were not the sole conquerors of the Main Line League.

It is most shameful in the eyes of the fans; most disgusting in the hearts of the players that made Narberth's eleventh victory possible, that they should not receive what is actually due them. They were lads of sportsmanship and were sacrificed other valuable opportunities that they might carry on the spirit of Narberth and fight to be crowned a more miniature, but no less a victory, is the beyond the understanding of the many addicts and this reporter.

JOHN UBERTI.
Editor Note: What stalwart citizen will come forward and reveal to Mr. Uberti the story of the vanished miniature baseballs? A solution of the distressing mystery should be a pleasant feature of these long, chilly, winter evenings.

VISITS OLD FRIEND

To the editor of Our Town:

Dear sir:
Last Sunday, in company with an old friend, I started for Elizabethtown, Pa., to call on our mutual friend, James A. Stretch, who is stopping with his daughter, Mrs. Trautman.

We had a flat tire in the village of High Spire, right in front of the old distillery, which was the only unpleasant incident of our trip.

We found Mr. Stretch, I am sorry to relate, not in the best of health, and it would be nice if all of his many friends would write to him.

As you know, Mr. Stretch is the Township Commissioner who holds a position of great responsibility as chairman of the Committee on Police and the great efficiency of the Lower Merion police force is undoubtedly due to him. Although my old friend Cook has always said that he ought to get Lieutenant Mullin promoted to Captain of Police in one of the nearby townships, because he thinks that Lieutenant Mullin is one of the best detectives in the State and as good a police officer as he is good looking. We had a long talk with Mr. Stretch in the fine home of his son-in-law, Dr. Trautman, and he wanted to know about Dan McGarry, Merkle, Dr. Schems and in fact about everybody in Narberth.

We came back through the beautiful Lykens Valley to Pottsville, passing some of the largest coal mines on earth. We stopped over night at the hotel in Lykens and found it as good as the Bellevue-Stratford.

GEORGE MARKLE.

Welsh Descendant Tells of Hunting in Old Bala, and of Families 2000 Years Old

On August 13, 1682, Lower Merion's first Welsh settlers came from Bala, Merionethshire, to Bala, Pennsylvania. A descendant of one of the old Welsh families is W. M. O. Edwards, president of the Pencoyd Neighborhood Club, who is, perhaps the only resident here who was born in Wales. He has written this account of the old Bala, Wales, for residents of the new Bala and neighboring Main Line communities.

Among the many points of interest at and near old Bala in North Wales is the large old country estate of Rulac, with its picturesque and romantic old castellated mansion. It is in the possession of the Price family, which has been chief of an ancient tribe of Britons for more than 2000 years at the same place, where the family has always lived, and does to this day.

There is carved over the old fireplace in the great hall, where, in the olden days many a good fat ox was roasted, "Be hospitable while in possession of this house, so you leave somewhat behind."

Much of the land of this estate, which originally was very extensive, was still, at the time of the great war, about six square miles in extent. While some of it in the valley is very fertile, a good deal is poor and mountainous. Every part that cannot be cultivated profitably is used for forests and game preserves, and for a long time has been famous for its great shooting parties.

The late owner, Mr. R. J. Lloyd Price, who died about four years ago, was a great sportsman, and during the 80's of last century, employed, besides a large retinue of servants and workmen, 18 game keepers, to feed and care for the game.

At a great shooting party in October, 1885, nine prominent and well known sportsmen, including the then Prince of Wales (King Edward VII), the Duke of Hamilton, Earl DeGrey and Lord Paget, shot 5000 rabbits and some hundreds of pheasants in one day. To many of us now this would appear a blood-thirsty performance and supreme waste, but it was a custom that steadily grew, following the old chivalry days of internal wars between the old Britons, Anglo-Saxons and Normans and the Wars of the Roses, when the only profession gentlemen followed was fighting or soldiering.

After the necessities of the large household were supplied the game was freely distributed among employees and tenants and the poor, miles around, and the rest was sent to hospitals and similar institutions in large cities.

One wonders at the tenacity by which many old families have held on to their properties for 2000 years. Rulac never changed owners.

Carries Wales Gun.

At the shooting parties described each gentleman would be equipped with three guns. He, his valet and an employee each carried a gun and some cartridges. The head gamekeeper assigned me on the above occasion to carry the Prince of Wales' third gun. As fast as he emptied his gun, the empty one would be handed to me—the man on his left—while a loaded gun would be placed in his right hand by the valet, who loaded the guns.

One of the gamekeepers, a fawning busybody, with too much to say, annoyed the Prince to such an extent, by continually remarking "That was a good shot, your Highness," that the Prince became so irritated he finally bawled out to the "Governor," "Oh, Dick, can't you remove this blasted man? I am sick and tired of hearing 'your Highness' 'your Highness' and 'your Highness'!" And the man was promptly replaced by another, and the prince resumed his wonted cordiality with the remark, "We get so much of that sort of thing in London at Court, that it is nauseating in the mountains."

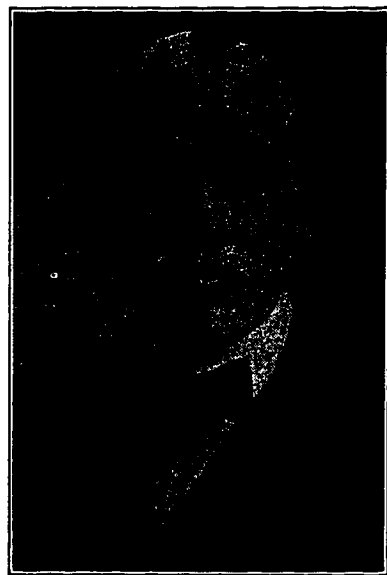

Mr. Price had in his possession a parchment six by eight feet, which for ages was lost in the big house, and accidentally rediscovered about fifty years ago and rebound and remounted. It gave the family pedigree, all the way back to Japhet, son of Noah, and is frequently inspected by genealogists.

To celebrate the battle of Waterloo, in 1815, a great feast was given at the big house. Of the menu, arranged by Miss Polly Jones, the painstaking dame housekeeper carefully kept account, as follows:

Hung beef, cold mutton, stewed beef chuck, fish, roasted sweetbread, turken knuckles, boiled mutton, veal, sirloin beef, veal cutlets, new potatoes, chickens, plum pudding, gooseberry fool, spinach. (Plenty of it and solid was the food!) Cowslip wine, port wine, ale. A fair example of the feasts of that period!

Postmaster Dies

John R. Baltz, 70, Ardmore postmaster for the last five years, who died of pneumonia on Sunday.

JOHN R. BALTZ, 70, POSTMASTER, DIES

Victim of Pneumonia Attack Following Previous Siege of Gripe

BORN IN LOWER MERION

The funeral of John R. Baltz, 70, postmaster of Ardmore, who died Sunday night in his home at 59 Cricket avenue from pneumonia, was held on Wednesday at 2 P. M. from the funeral parlors of S. P. Frankfield & Sons. The Rev. Frederick E. Seymour, of St. Mary's Church, officiated, and interment was made in the West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Baltz had been ill with the gripe for several weeks but returned to the post office just before Christmas to help out in the holiday rush. Unable to stand the exertion he was again taken ill, this time with double pneumonia, and died on Sunday. His brother, George Baltz, of Gladwyne, died just two weeks before as the result of a severe cold he caught while supervising the removal of snow from the township highways.

Since 1924 Mr. Baltz had served as postmaster of Ardmore. He was born in Gladwyne in 1858 and for the past 30 years has been a resident of Ardmore. Before taking up the duties of postmaster, he was in the painting and contracting business, and for 27 years he was foreman of the coinage department in the U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. He has always been an active worker in the Republican organization of Lower Merion.

TABOO TOWNSEND APARTMENT PLEA

Merion Zone Change Denied at Special Meeting of Commission.

SWARTZ FILES BRIEF

Merion property-owners won their fight against Caspar W. B. Townsend's proposed apartment house on City Line, when the township commission unanimously denied his plea for a change in zoning classification, at a special meeting held in the township hall at Ardmore last Thursday night.

At the conclusion of a public hearing Wednesday, December 19, Aaron S. Swartz, Jr., of Norristown, Mr. Townsend's attorney, requested permission to file a brief combating that filed at the hearing by William J. Conlen, Merion attorney. In his brief, read last Thursday, Mr. Swartz declared:

"To say that a man cannot build an apartment house in this particular locality is to our mind 'regulation run mad.'"

"The real question is not whether your honorable board has the right to exclude apartment houses entirely from a residential zone, but whether it can forbid one in this particular locality. There is a vast difference here."

"The protestants appeared in some numbers, but it is not numbers that should decide this question. Not a single property belonging to these people will be depreciated one iota by reason of this apartment house. It will be screened from their view. Most of them would not be able to see it if they climbed on the roofs of their houses, and could not smell it nor hear noises from it under any circumstances.

"The truth of the whole matter is that everyone down in his heart must realize that this City Line frontage is not now a strictly private residential locality. It may have been at one time, but not now."

Mr. Townsend's petition was for a change from an "A" (highly restricted) residential zone to "C" (permitting erection of an apartment house) for his 3.624-acre property on City Line between Merion and Blancoyds roads, Merion. The request was opposed by 19 owners of adjacent property and the Merion Civic Association.

Battlers Gain Lead in Interchurch Bowling

The Baptist Battlers gained the lead in the Interchurch Bowling League during the holidays, topping the Meteors by one point. Until recently the Meteors led all season by a comfortable margin. Last year's champions, the Mules, are now one step above the cellar position. The matches are played every Friday night on the alleys of the Ardmore Recreation Club. The standing of the teams and scores for the last three meetings follow:

Forgetfulness Is Poor Health Policy

"The other day the newspapers carried the story of a young college graduate who left home last summer the victim of amnesia and today still forgets his past, failing to recognize his parents and close associates, which is sad indeed. On the other hand, there are many types of forgetfulness not dignified by a medical term or classification that are just as unfortunate and even worse," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"The youthful amnesia victim in all probability will finally regain his former mental health. Not so, however, many others whose conditions grow out of forgetfulness. The pathetic part of it lies in the fact that the individual merely disciplined himself through intelligent interest in his own welfare, many of the crippling and fatal results would not have occurred."

"It is quite difficult to understand how people can be so forgetful as to drive themselves literally into invalidism or death. Nevertheless, this state of mind is so general as to make repeated warnings quite necessary.

"Here are some of the things that many people constantly and daily forget with dire consequences:

1. Forgetting to eat just enough rather than too much food.
2. Forgetting to exercise in the open air.
3. Forgetting that eight hours' sleep in a well-ventilated room each night is the average individual requirement.
4. Forgetting that worry devitalizes and sometimes kills.
5. Forgetting that the annual physical examination is the detector of serious unsuspected conditions which in the early stages can be cured.
6. Forgetting that health is the one supreme blessing and that when it is lost all is lost.

"To be sure, amnesia is a serious and heart-rending disease. But deliberate forgetfulness of one's physical welfare is infinitely more serious. How forgetful are you?"

Get an estimate now on that bit of alteration for your home.

Hess Outlines Township Taxation Problems Before Ardmore Rotarians

Ardmore Rotarians were given a close insight into the workings of the Township Treasurer's office Thursday when Peter C. Hess addressed the club. Facts and figures, many of them new to his hearers, were given.

Mr. Hess prefaced his talk with a brief description of the township form of government, describing it as the "lowest and cheapest form under the State government." The reason for this, he brought out, is that the township method of government was created many years ago to take care of large areas of thinly settled country. No provision of the growth of Lower Merion figured in the original township laws.

Lower Merion now includes 26 square miles, with many well-populated towns and three distinct commercial areas. Its assessed valuation of over 78 millions of dollars indicates a salable value of the taxable real estate of nearly a quarter billion.

An evil which has been brought out by other officials in the past was emphasized by Mr. Hess. This is the growth of non-taxable properties, including schools, church institutions and colleges. These areas receive the same service as the rest of the township, throwing an extra burden on the taxable properties.

"The legislature must take steps to correct this evil," said Mr. Hess. "If it is done, it will result in a general reduction in taxes. Our rate, you know, is based on the actual budget, and new sources of revenue would immediately reduce the rate to the householder."

About half of each hundred dollars in taxes collected goes to the schools, the treasurer said. The school system here, he added, is rated as one of the best in this part of the country, and is run at a very low per capita cost. The county gets about ten dollars of each hundred.

Of the remaining $40, which goes into the township coffers highways takes the biggest slice, or $16. Next comes public safety with $9, which among other things pays the expense of a police force of 76 members. $4 is required to operate the sewer systems.

The remainder of the budget is divided into smaller amounts for garbage collection, building inspection, playgrounds, interest and sinking funds, legal advice and general administration. This last item, the speaker pointed out, is but $1.43 out of each $100.

The theory that the township treasurer has an easy job paying an exorbitant sum was quickly exploded. This might have been the case, Mr. Hess said, in past years when the expenses of the office were low and a 5 per cent. commission was paid. Now, however the township commission is only one-half of 1 per cent., and out of this the treasurer must defray the expenses of his office.

The gross return to the treasurer for the collection of county, school and township taxes is but $14,000, out of which must come salaries of assistants, office rent and overhead. In addition the treasurer must pay out of his own pocket any uncollected taxes for which he cannot show a mighty good reason for exemption.

And the job itself, it was shown, is no sinecure. The treasurer is treasurer in fact, signing over 20,000 checks a year and supervising all payments. In addition he must function as comptroller, auditing the returns, and as both tax collector and delinquent tax collector.

Fifty thousand bills are required to send out the accounts each year, and with larger properties constantly subdivided, this figure is rapidly increasing.

Auto Club to Push Safety Promotion Work

Safety promotion will be one of the major activities of the Keystone Automobile Club in 1929, according to announcement by Joseph R. Murphy, supervisor of the Ardmore office.

"This department," said Mr. Murphy, "will be at the service of schools and municipalities in working out their safety problems, especially as they relate to conservation of child life. The Safety Patrol idea is rapidly taking firm hold in the schools, and we are certain that expansion of the patrol system will aid materially in reducing the number of accidents to children."

"It may not be amiss at this time to call attention of motorists to a menace that annually takes many lives—carbon monoxide gas fumes. Despite all that has been said and written on the subject, motorists still take a chance of running their motors in closed garages. Carbon monoxide fumes are among the most dangerous known to science. Any motorist who works on his car in a closed garage is inviting death unless he turns off the engine."

"Another winter danger that is not thoroughly appreciated by drivers is the stalling of cars on grade-crossings or intersections, because they have not been properly warmed up before the beginning of a trip. There are numerous instances of fatal accidents due to this cause."

"Skidding accidents continue to take a fearful toll of human life. Many motorists do not seem to understand that speeding over wet or icy roads is fraught with menace, particularly if they are called upon to make a sudden stop. Tires must have traction on an icy road."

"The wise motorist will begin the new year with a resolution to drive carefully under all circumstances. It eternal vigilance be the price of liberty, eternal carelessness can well be said to be the price of life on the crowded highways in the year 1929."

Fido Cannot Run in 1929 Without License

More than 550,000 dog license tags have been sent to the county treasurers throughout the Commonwealth and are now available to dog owners, according to the Pennsylvania Bureau of Animal Industry.

"The Pennsylvania dog law requires that 1929 licenses be on all dogs by January 15. No extra time is allowed. After that date it is just as much a violation of the law to allow a dog to be without a 1929 license as it would be to run an automobile without a license on or after January 1," a bureau statement said.

The penalty for violation of any provisions of the Dog Law is a fine of "not less than $5 nor more than $100, or to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both."

Dog licenses may be secured from William H. Fox, county treasurer, Norristown, Pa. Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

EVANS HOMESTEAD STAYS IN FAMILY

Major and Sister Buy Out Other Heirs of "Penrhyn."

PROPERTY ONCE FARM

According to a property transfer recently listed in the Recorder of Deeds' office at Norristown it appears that Major John Lewis Evans and Miss Margaret Eleanor Evans have purchased the interests of their sister and brothers in the family residence known as "Penrhyn" at Haverford.

This is part of a farm purchased by Dr. Edmund C. Evans, their grandfather, in 1869. The farm extended from Montgomery avenue, then known as the Old Lancaster road, along Gray's lane to the Mill Creek road and included the present grounds of the Merion Cricket Club and among others the properties of William R. Philler, of Mrs. John B. Thayer and of the late A. J. Cassatt.

The property was left by Dr. Evans to his two sons, Rowland Evans and Allen Evans, both of whom were prominent in neighborhood affairs. Rowland Evans was one of the drafters of the act of Assembly establishing townships of the first class and was township solicitor of Lower Merion township from its formation until his death in 1915. Allen Evans was president of the Merion Cricket Club.

is his message since one can never outgrow religion and one can never go beyond it.

Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, in opening the meeting, read a resolution, entitled, "The way to a happy year." Mrs. F. P. Dunlop gave a very instructive talk on the work involved in creating etchings in explanation of the two new subjects displayed on the club room walls.

The Welfare Chairman, Mrs. G. N. Gill, reported as part of her December work, three hundred and eighty-seven pounds of clothing shipped to Crossnore School; fifty-seven packages of toys to the crippled children; and toys and clothing to the children who are adopted by the county.

The Montgomery County Federation meeting will be held in Ardmore on January 17, the Woman's Club of Ardmore acting as hostess. The program is to be more or less a surprise, but in the able hands of Mrs. A. B. Ross, County President, one may be assured that it will contain many interesting features. The mid-winter flower show will be a part of the day's events, with prizes for the club entering the best display of dried berries, grasses and leaves. There will be a Publicity Exhibit, and it is hoped every member will be present as Mrs. Ross is a past president and member of this club, an added honor for the club.

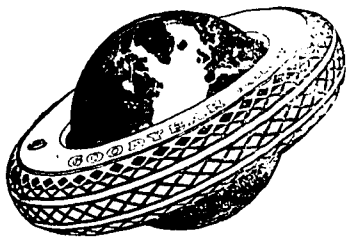

Fires Cause Losses In Cynwyd and Merion

filled pit at the time of the blast Bridgeman suffered severe burns. His face was burned, his hair singed and his clothing caught fire. He was treated by Dr. Edward F. Corson and taken home. The other boys and attendants at the station escaped injury. Firemen from the Bala-Cynwyd and West Manayunk Companies were led in their onslaught on the spreading blaze by Assistant Fire Chief Peter C. Hess, who was attending a meeting in the neighborhood at the time the alarm was sounded.

Blazing gasoline spread half across Montgomery pike and down Old Lancaster road, imperiling pedestrians, motorists and the small group of stores on the south side of the pike. A chemical line and a water line were directed on the flames to lessen the heat, and six gallons of a patent extinguisher were spread over the gasoline, smothering the fire.

verse weather conditions that it is expected service interruptions, due to storm conditions, will be reduced to a minimum.

About $4,000,000 is to be spent for new building construction. This will include major additions to several existing offices and the construction of new offices throughout the State.

Poles for new lines and replacements will absorb a portion of the year's outlay. If the 1929 pole requirements for Pennsylvania were used to establish a new telephone line, it would reach from Philadelphia to Denver, Col., a distance of approximately 1600 miles.

Telephone engineers have estimated that there will be about 64,000 telephones added to the Bell network in this State during the year. In arriving at this net figure they predict that approximately 277,000 telephones will be installed and that about 213,000 will be disconnected because of the removal of subscribers to other neighborhoods or towns, and other causes.

The daily average of local telephone calls in the State during the year 1928 amounted to 4,970,000. During 1929, it is estimated, the local calls will total 5,300,000, an increase of 330,000 a day.

An average of 253,000 out-of-town calls was made daily by telephone users in Pennsylvania during 1928. This figure also will be increased, according to the estimates of telephone engineers, to 275,000 calls a day.

MOTORISTS often ask," said Mr. Cook, the local Exide Dealer, "why some batteries last longer than others. The answer is simple—they last longer because, other things being equal, they get better care and attention. Now, a storage battery, as a rule, requires very little attention, but in these days of hustle and bustle it is easy for a motorist to forget the little black box hidden beneath the driver's seat. As a consequence most batteries are grossly neglected. Unfortunately, this tendency seems to be growing every day.

"Once it is installed, the average motorist forgets his battery until it begins to give him trouble. Then, and not until then, he takes it to a service station for a "going over." Usually when this happens he is in need of repair work and may be surprised at the size of his repair bill.

"Large battery repair bills are unnecessary. The engineers of the world's largest manufacturers of storage batteries, The Electric Storage Battery Company, claim that a monthly inspection of a battery will go a long way toward insuring maximum life. Furthermore it will do much to keep down the upkeep costs.

"Ten minutes a month is all the time required for such an inspection. Regular addition of approved water is an absolute necessity. Often a little corrosion removed from the terminals or a tightening of the connections or cables will prevent future trouble. The charging rate of your generator should be properly adjusted to meet the difference between summer and winter driving.

"All of these jobs are small and can be quickly attended to. But if they are neglected they are apt to necessitate the spending of many dollars for repairs and, sometimes, a new battery.

"If you want long, satisfactory battery service and negligible repair bills—don't neglect your battery. Remember your battery, like your teeth, must be given regular attention. In fact, we are willing to look over any motorist's battery, if he wishes to drive in. A new set of spark plugs will also help."
